

Statement from Anthony Wright, executive director, Health Access California:

“As health reform secures and expands coverage so it is there when we need it, reforms cannot just improve the quality of coverage but the quality of care. Reforms can ensure that doctors and patients have independent scientific evidence—and not just industry-sponsored marketing--to support them in making informed health care choices.”